

The Australian Women's Register

Entry type: Organisation

Entry ID: AWE0986

Australian Women in Agriculture

(1993 -)

Born 1 January, 1993, Australia

Occupation Lobby group, Social action organisation

Summary

Australian Women in Agriculture (AWiA) was founded on St Valentines Day, February 14, 1993, and by 2004 was a national body of around 500 members. Members come from a large cross section of industries and include farmers, scientists, educators, communicators and others. All members bring a wealth of talents to the organisation and to agriculture. The group is represented on government boards as well as at local levels where industry and rural issues are addressed. Australian Women in Agriculture is committed to promoting the advancement of women in agriculture by:

- uniting and raising the profile of women in agriculture;
- addressing rural and agricultural inequalities;
- working to ensure the survival of agriculture for future generations;
- securing local, regional, national and international recognition; and,
- achieving the status of a political and economic force.

Published resources

Journal Article

Second wave feminism in rural Australia. -The main elements and characteristics of the rural women's movement of the 1990s-, McGowan, Cathy, 1997

Resource

Trove, National Library of Australia, 2009

Electronic Journal

Australian Women in Agriculture': Interview, Dorothy Dunn with Shane Mahony, Shane Mahony, 1999, <http://arts.abc.net.au/headspace/m/cbfast/women/default.htm>

Report

Australian Women in Agriculture Submission to the Standing Committee on Primary Industries and Regional Services, Dunn, Dorothy, 1999, <http://www.aph.gov.au/house/committee/primind/rdinq/sub205-e.pdf>

Archival resources

National Library of Australia, Manuscript Collection

[Papers of Laurene Dietrich, 1990-1994 \[manuscript\]](#)

[Papers of Mary Salce, 1976-2007 \[manuscript\]](#)

Author Details

Jane Carey

Created 28 May 2004

Last modified 27 October 2004