

Entry type: Organisation

Entry ID: AWE6495

Melbourne Lying-In Hospital and Infirmary fo Diseases of Women and Children

(1856 -)

Born 1 August, 1856, Victoria Australia

Summary

The Royal Women's Hospital, which was originally known as the 'Melbourne Lying-in Hospital and Infirmary for Diseases of Women and Children', was founded in August 1856. The aim of the founders was to provide a place where 'underprivileged women could give birth and receive proper medical and nursing attention'.

Author Details

Alannah Croom

Created 6 March 2019

Last modified 13 June 2019