Details

The papers consist mainly of secondary source material relating to women's issues. They include journal articles, newscuttings, notes, papers, reports, information circulars and women's journals. A substantial amount of the research material (6 folders) has been collected on the campaigns for equal pay for women both in Australia and overseas. Other subject files include women and the media, women in the Australian Public Service and women's organisations. There are also papers from women's conferences and miscellaneous copies of various women's journals and newsletters.??The papers were received by the Library in 1991. They were once part of the collection of the Womens Studies Unit at the Australian National University.
