

Entry type: Place
Entry ID: AWE0207

Nancy T Burbidge Memorial Amphitheatre

(1980 -)

Born 1 January, 1980, Australian National Botanic Gardens Australian Capital Territory Australia

Occupation Commemoration

Summary

An amphitheatre located in the eucalypt lawn was erected as a memorial to Dr Burbidge's contribution to Australian botany.

Details

The Nancy T Burbidge Memorial Amphitheatre was opened in the presence of Her Excellency, Lady Cowen, CStJ on 14 September 1980. The Amphitheatre is used as an open-air classroom and meeting place for students and other groups and was designed to assist in the education, conservation and scientific functions of the Gardens. The lectern is made from jarrah timber and was donated by Mr and Mrs D Cullity, of Perth, in recognition of Dr Burbidge's Western Australian background.

Published resources

Resource

Nancy T. Burbidge Memorial Amphitheatre, Australian National Botanic Gardens, <http://www.anbg.gov.au/anbg/memorials/burbidge-amphitheatre.html>

Author Details

Anne Heywood

Created 5 December 2001

Last modified 7 November 2003